Truman Prepares For Return Trip To Washington

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27. (AP)—President Truman ordered his big C-54 readied tonight for his return to Washington as his Christmas holiday came to an end with an other round of visiting and handshaking.

The "Sacred Cow," in which he flew to Kansas City Christmas day, was scheduled to take off at 9:30 a.m. EST tomorrow for the capital where he will begin work on a speech to the people.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former secretary of the treasury who headed the Bretton Woods conference said he felt "that this is a new step in international finance and can't help but bring better conditions in the world."

As provided by that conference, the pacts were to take effect only if ratified and signed before December 31 by governments having sixty-five per cent of the fund quotas ($5,720,000,000) and bank subscriptions ($5,915,000,000). Those signing to-day have total quotas well in excess of the sixty-five per cent.

Hopes of "Blue" Baby's Parents Are Shattered

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27. (AP)—The cherished hopes of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hayden, Michigan City, Ind., were shattered today at the Johns Hopkins hospital where they had dreamed that their "blue" baby would get a new promise of life.

Janice Marne Hayden, 2, came to Hopkins December 17 and preliminary examinations indicated that the famed Blalock-Taussig operation would remove the shadow of death hovering over the child.

Today, Janice was wheeled into an amphitheater where Dr. Alfred Blalock waited to perform the delicate operation he and Dr. Helen B. Taussig discovered last year. Dr. Blalock is professor of surgery at Hopkins. Dr. Taussig is head of the cardiac clinic at the Harriet Lane Home for Invalid Children, pediatric division at Hopkins.

One of the doctors who assisted at today's operation and who preferred to remain anonymous described it as follows:

Dr. Blalock cut the right side of the little girl's chest, the side where x-rays showed he might be able to sever a good artery and sew it to a defective one.

Examination of the arteries proved, however, that Janice's pulmonary artery was thick instead of thin. The blood pressure through the artery was measured. It was high instead of low.

In cases amenable to this operation, the surgeon found that the child's blueness comes from a deficient supply of oxygenated blood, a stoppage in the pulmonary artery impeding the flow of blood to the lungs.

What the surgeon found in Janice's case indicated that her trouble was another cardiac malformation, perhaps a single chamber.

We've got more colonels and lieutenants than we have first lieutenants."

"I just asked the War department for its list of regular commissioned officers," Johnson said. "It shows we have 3,397 lieutenant colonels and only 2,295 second lieutenants.

"Lieutenants and captains are valuable to an army. Too many older colonels are worthless."

"We have so many colonels today it's almost a comic opera army."

28 Nations Sign Bretton Woods Monetary Pacts

Russia Is Only Major Power Not Represented at Ceremony

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—Hailed as a forerunner of an improved world economy, the Bretton Woods monetary agreements were formally signed today by twenty-eight of the forty-five nations which had drafted them in July 1944.

Russia was the only big power absent but she has until December 31 to ratify and sign as one of the original forty-five. The larger nations signing were the United States, Great Britain, France and China.

The agreements establish a $9,100,000,000 international bank to make loans to help rebuild and rehabilitate war-torn countries and a $8,800,000,000 fund to keep world currencies stabilized.

26-Minute Ceremony

They still can be signed until next Monday by the other countries participating in the United Nations' 1944 monetary conference at Bretton Woods, N. H. After that date, a nation wishing to participate will have to be approved by the fund or bank boards.

Appointment of boards of governors by each signatory country is the next step in setting the two institutions on a going basis.

The two agreements were signed in a twenty-six-minute ceremony at the State Department.

Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson signed for the United States; the Earl of Halifax, British ambassador, for Great Britain, Ambassador Henri Bonnet, for France, and Ambassador Wei Tai-Ming for China.

Other signatories were Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Egypt, Ethiopia, Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Iceland, India, Iraq, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Paraguay, Philippine Commonwealth, Poland, Union of South Africa, Uruguay and Yugoslavia.

Facts Are "Means to an End"

At the conclusion of the ceremony Secretary Vinson declared:

"The birth of these two great international financial institutions is not an end in itself but only a means to the end of international peace and prosperity. Our task therefore, has but just commenced."

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former secretary of the treasury who headed the Bretton Woods conference said he felt "that this is a new step in international finance and can't help but bring better conditions in the world."

As provided by that conference, the pacts were to take effect only if ratified and signed before December 31 by governments having sixty-five per cent of the fund quotas ($5,720,000,000) and bank subscriptions ($5,915,000,000). Those signing to-day have total quotas well in excess of the sixty-five per cent.

The chief executive was in a jovial mood. Earlier he had dropped by the offices of his hometown newspaper, the Independence Examiner, where he talked with Col. William Southern, its owner since 1898, and members of the staff.

From there he went to his offices in the Federal building to shake hands with upwards of 200 callers, including Eddie Jacobson, his former haberdashery partner.

Others who stopped in to see the chief executive included Maj. Gen. Ralph Truman, his cousin; Mayor Gage, of Kansas City; Jim Pendleton, nephew of the late T. J. Pendleton, and a half-dozen members of his World War I outfit, Battery D.

At the newspaper luncheon, the guests included the president's brother, Vivian Truman; Thomas Evans, Kansas City drug store and radio executive; Ted Marks, Kansas City, who recently completed a mission in China for the chief executive; Col. Southern, and Roy Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star.

Mr. Truman slipped away from the press luncheon long enough to put in an appearance at a Rotary club luncheon.

GM Statement Will Be Given To Fact-finders

Company Will Be Represented at Second Hearing, President Says

DETROIT, Dec. 27. (AP)—A representative of strike-bound General Motors will present a formal statement "regarding our position with respect to further proceedings" to President Truman's fact-finding board when it reconvenes in Washington tomorrow, the corporation said tonight.

President C. E. Wilson revealed this move in a belated and brief statement late today when he announced that General Motors will be represented at the second hearing before the board. Wilson declined to disclose who would be on hand to do the corporation's talking.

UAW To Send Delegation

The striking CIO's United Auto Workers had announced some twenty-four hours earlier that it would send a delegation in an effort to find a solution to the strike that has kept 175,000 GM production workers idle more than five weeks. President R. J. Thomas and Vice President Walter J. Reuther headed a union group that left today for Washington.

A thirty per cent wage rate increase from the nation's motor car industry has been demanded by the UAW-CIO, which struck General Motors plants November 21.

Throughout the negotiations with the union, GM has insisted its prices and profits were not a subject for collective bargaining. As the fact-finding board adjourned its hearings last week it had been told by President Truman that it had an "unquestionable" right to consider a company's ability to pay as a factor in making recommendations for settling a dispute.

Negotiate with New Firm

The auto union resumed negotiations today with Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, newcomer to the automotive industry. A joint statement said Kaiser-Frazer presented counter-proposals to those made by the union on December 17.

"Not touched on so far," the statement said, "have been wages, company security and union security."

Both sides had substantial progress been made "and agreement has been reached on most issues."

Gen. MacArthur's Powers Remain Virtually Same

Field Seeking UNO Capital Shrinks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—Decisions of "Big Three" foreign ministers on Japan appeared tonight to have left virtually unchanged the powers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme Allied commander.

Although the ministers agreed to establish a four-power council for Japan in Tokyo, it was given only the functions of "consulting with and advising" the supreme commander.

In addition, MacArthur was made chairman and United States member of the council. The other members will represent Russia, Britain and China.

The Moscow communiqué increased the policy-making power of the Far Eastern Commission, which Russia now will join, but provided a method of voting under which the United States can block any decisions on Japan with which it disagrees.

Thus, this country could block any attempt to change existing American directives which MacArthur already is carrying out.

The action by the committee, expected to leave for the United States next week to make "on the spot" investigations, eliminated bids from all cities except those in ten Atlantic coast seaboard states.

States still in the running, the communiqué said, are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

The committee announced it would leave for the United States on January 3 or 4 to make a final selection. UNO delegates generally agreed that the committee's recommendation will be accepted by the UNO General Assembly at its first session in London, January 10.

The action by the committee, expected to leave for the United States next week to make "on the spot" investigations, eliminated bids from all cities except those in ten Atlantic coast seaboard states.

Bevin said the situation in Iran "will continue to be discussed" through diplomatic channels.

Byrnes declared that the Moscow conference had been "very constructive" not only because of the settlement of many problems, but because the United States can block any decisions on Japan with which it disagrees.

He said that "there is great hope for the settlement of other problems in the same friendly spirit."

Byrnes gave assurance that there were no secret agreements made at the conference.

Allied Control Agency Will Give Reds Louder Voice in Running Japan

Accord on Problems Arising from Korea, China, Romania and Bulgaria Are Reached at Moscow

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—An agreement on drafting the blueprint for machinery to control atomic power, and accord on other problems ranging the globe, were announced tonight by the foreign secretaries of the United States, Russia and Britain.

Russia concurred in the plan proposed by the United States and Britain, with Canada, that the United Nations should handle controls over atomic energy to "ensure its use only for peaceful purposes."

In a communiqué outlining results of their eleven-day conference in Moscow, the three foreign ministers announced agreement also on problems arising from Japan, China, Romania and Bulgaria.

Thus, in contrast to a non-productive conference in London last September, Secretary of State Byrnes, Foreign Secretary Bevin, of Britain, and Foreign Commissar Molotov of Russia, reached accord on troublesome questions world-wide in scope and importance.

They proposed in effect that the United Nations Security Council take on the job of atomic control, of eliminating fearsome atomic weapons and "all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction" from the arsenals of all nations.

Revised Far East Commission

They said the question of establishing a control commission would be laid before the United Nations General Assembly at its first meeting in London next month.

Russia agreed to go along with a control formula that was just about what Britain and the United States, along with Canada, suggested in November.

But Russia got a louder voice in running conquered Japan. She had been hammering for months for an Allied control council.

The three foreign ministers agreed on one. Russia will sit in on it, along with an American and Chinese member, and a fourth representing Britain, Australia, New Zealand and India.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur still will play a dominant role as the American representative, council chairman, and "sole executive authority for the Allied powers in Japan."

Truman Prepares For Return Trip To Washington

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27. (AP)—President Truman ordered his biplane readied tonight for his return to Washington as his Christmas holiday came to an end with another round of visiting and handshaking.

The "Sacred Cow," in which he flew to Kansas City Christmas day, was scheduled to take off at 9:30 a.m. EST tomorrow for the capital where he will begin work on a speech to the people.

Truman Abolishes SWPC and Shifts Its Assignments to Other Agencies

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—President Truman today abolished the Smaller War Plants Corporation, effective January 26, and shifted its duties to other agencies as a step in reorganizing the executive branch of the government.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation gets SWPC's assignment in surplus disposal activity and its job of lending money to help small firms reconver and expand. The Commerce department takes over the expiring agency's duties of supplying technical and other aid to little business.

Maury Maverick, former mayor of San Antonio and former congressman, who headed SWPC during most of the war, got no new assignment. He will continue his current survey of the possibilities of developing new markets in the Pacific for United States small business.

The changes were made, Mr. Truman explained, because the government "must have a permanent program to assist small business grow and prosper."

While Congress recently granted Mr. Truman authority to re-arrange executive agencies, he acted today under the War Powers Act of 1941. He referred to the changeover in letters to retiring SWPC directors, however, as part of his reorganization plan.

Maverick has not yet resigned as chairman and general manager of SWPC, although Mr. Truman's letter giving him the overseas assignment and notifying him of the impending consolidation was sent early in November.

There have been reports that the Texan, vociferous for red tape and official "gobbledygook," would go into private business, but one official close to the arrangements said a government job would be available if he wanted it.

The RFC will get the bulk of SWPC's 1,150 employees and all 110 field offices. It also will get the agency's revolving fund of $200,000.

Nine Are Killed as Jews Attack Police Buildings In Jerusalem, Tel Aviv

Crosby Is Again Named Film Box Office Leader

JERUSALEM, Dec. 27. (AP)—Nine persons were killed tonight in simultaneous Jewish attacks on police headquarters buildings in Jerusalem and in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area some thirty miles away.

A communiqué said one British assistant police superintendent and two British constables and four Basutolud (South African) military policemen were killed in Jerusalem, where a three-block area in the heart of the city was damaged and the Central police building was partially destroyed by heavy explosions.

During the attack against the district police headquarters in Tel Aviv, an Arab telephone operator was killed, the communiqué said, and later in an attempted raid at the Royal Engineers arms store at the exhibition grounds north of Tel Aviv, one British soldier was killed.

The communiqué added that in addition to the seven killed in Jerusalem, the superintendent of police and six Baguio soldiers were seriously injured and four constables were wounded, placing the latest estimate of wounded in that city at eleven.

Eyewitnesses in Jerusalem were reported to have said they saw six young men with bayoneted rifles dash across the street toward the Central police building. Some of them were said to have been firing revolvers at policemen guarding the gates of the police building while the rest placed explosives which turned the place into a shambles.

Earlier reports said the explosions were believed to have been caused by bombs thrown from an automobile.

The heaviest blast was in the police building, housing the criminal investigation department headquarters, which borders on Jaffa.

States still in the running, the committee said, are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

The committee announced it would leave for the United States next week to make "on the spot" investigations, eliminated bids from all cities except those in ten Atlantic coast seaboard states.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The supply of brick and tile was large enough by January 1 to meet home building needs in most communities, the Structural Clay Products Institute reported today.

Johnson, ranking majority member of the Senate Military Committee, promised to "do something about this."

The striking CIO's United Auto Workers had announced a 50-metre twenty-four hours earlier that it would send a delegation in an effort to find a solution to the strike that has kept 175,000 GM production workers idle more than five weeks.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Dec. 27. (AP)—United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was flying home tonight from Moscow, jubilant over the accomplishments of the Big Three foreign ministers conference in reaching agreement on vital questions, including atomic energy control, and in creating a "friendly spirit" for meeting future world problems.

In excellent spirits just before he boarded his plane at the snow-covered Moscow airport, Byrnes declared that the "important thing about the conference is that closer relations have been established so that the possibility of agreement has been greatly increased."

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who has not yet left Moscow, told newsmen tonight that the foreign ministers had discussed the problem of Iran at length, but had not reached any final agreement.

"The treaty of March 2 for withdrawal of troops still stands," Bevin said. "We have repeated assurances this will be carried out. The March 2 date was set for withdrawal of Allied forces from Iran, where an autonomous government has been set up in Azerbaijan province, in the Russian-occupied zone."

Bevin said the situation in Iran "will continue to be discussed through diplomatic channels."

Byrnes declared that the Moscow conference had been "very constructive" not only because of the settlement of many problems, but because the United States can block any decisions on Japan with which it disagrees.

Thus, this country could block any attempt to change existing American directives which MacArthur already is carrying out.

The commission is to respect "existing control machinery in Japan, including the chain of command from the United States government to the supreme commander of occupation forces."

The right to issue interim directives to MacArthur on urgent matters not covered by existing commission policy decisions was retained by the United States, except where a major change in the Japanese government is involved. Then the United States must consult the commission before acting.

"MacArthur hasn't been touched," commented one United States official concerned with policy-making machinery for Japan.

Resulting from Colds

But adults can't expect real results from the same sweet syrupy concoction that you'd give to a child. When you're suffering from a persistent cough from a cold you can just eat to have a real cough medicine, then you should ask your druggist for a bottle of cold medicine.

Hon-chu-line isn't a cheap cough syrup mind you, for first-rates are never cheap. But if you want relief and are willing to pay a little more for real results, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and gives you real relief.

Don't ignore a cough—see a doctor as quick as you can. Ask any druggist for a 5 cent bottle of Hon-chu-line emulsion and keep this in mind—it not joyfully sets the money back.

Beatrice Fairfax Puts In Good Word For Fraternizing

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Those starry-eyed girls who talk over a future world in which bitterness and hate will have disappeared, might very well turn their attention to that process known as fraternizing with girls of enemy countries.

No panacea has ever been discovered which breaks down enmity between warring countries, bent on wholesale destruction, as marriage between the belligerents does.

Take our own country, for instance. What was the most potent influence that reunited the North and South after the Civil war? Marriage between southerners and Yankees. The grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the Civil war belligerents are apt to smile today over the bitterness of the Sixties. And apart from the pang resulting because some of the southern families lost valuable antiques and silver, the children and great-grandchildren don't seem to know or care much about the issues—so overwhelming at the time.

The provinces of Alsace and Lorraine have been fought over for more than 200 years. They belonged first to France, then to Germany, then back and forth till hardly any of the oldest families know in what country their ancestors stemmed from. So, if the English girls are coming over here, 44,000 of them, they'll probably bring something worth while along with them. For one thing they'll know how to make good tea, which also some of our Americans have never learned to make.

And they're thrifty; they're even more thrifty than the French, who unquestionably will raise the standards of domestic cooking. I've had

Hospital Space for War Vets Will Be "Borrowed"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Veterans Administration is borrowing hospital space for approximately 40,000 patients to meet the fast-rising demand for medical care of veterans.

Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, acting surgeon general of the VA, announced today that beds for 20,000 disabled veterans have been obtained in civilian hospitals, for 9,375 in navy institutions and for 10,600 in army hospitals.

This action, Hawley told a news conference, breaks the "bottleneck" in veterans' hospitalization temporarily. However, he warned that, generally speaking, it will mean that the hospital situation for civilians will be "critical" for some months ahead.

Hospital Space for War Vets Will Be "Borrowed"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Veterans Administration is borrowing hospital space for approximately 40,000 patients to meet the fast-rising demand for medical care of veterans.

Maj. Gen. Paul R. Howley, acting surgeon general of the VA, announced today that beds for 20,000 disabled veterans have been obtained in civilian hospitals, for 9,375 in navy institutions and for 10,000 in army hospitals.

This action, Hawley told a news conference, breaks the "bottleneck" in veterans' hospitalization temporarily. However, he warned that the hospital situation for civilians will be "critical" for some months ahead.

On Which Side Is the British Loan Unfair?

THE CHIEF THING to be decided by this country about the proposed British loan is whether it is a fair bargain—whether it offers a quiet pro quo sufficiently urgent or beneficial to induce its conclusion.

British spokesmen have declared it is a "hard bargain" driven by a shrewd and selfish creditor, that it is a "niggardly, barbaric and antediluvian" plan in which there is "no wisdom" and "no kindness."

Such words call for a patient examination of this alleged Shylockish attitude on the part of the nation and of the pound of flesh it is supposed to be exacting.

The proposed agreement is long and complicated and involved, but reduced to essentials, here is what it encompasses:

The United States would settle a net $25,000,000,000 Lend-lease account against the British for a mere $650,000,000 and would lend the British $3,750,000,000 in cash in addition.

Some of the experts have figured this out as a grant of $4,400,000,000 but the adding machines don't run it up that way. But let that pass and consider only the item of $3,750,000,000 in cash, upon which the British may draw at will until December 31, 1951.

This money the British government agrees to repay over a fifty-year period at an interest rate of only two per cent, which is substantially less than the people of this country would have to pay on the bonds with which the American government would raise the money to implement the loan. And interest is waived for five years at the outset.

In return, this nation would accept a lot of doubtful promises about international trade which, so far as the average citizen can discern, don't mean a great deal to this nation one way or another. There is also grave doubt that the British socialist government could deliver its part of the bargain in face of the fact that it promises to direct its external economy in direct variance to the state-regulated domestic economy by which its program of socialism is obligated, the apparent incompatibility of which has already been set forth in these columns.

Certainly that doesn't look like a niggardly bargain but, quite on the contrary, it seems to be a most generous proposal. But, would it make much difference, one way or the other, with regard to the probability of fulfillment?

The British government borrowed a lot of money from this nation once before for war and rehabilitation purposes. That was during and after the First World war. Then, as now, it solemnly agreed to pay interest and principal. But when some rude and untutored American official suggested that the time to start repaying had arrived, the cry of "Uncle Shylock" went up all over the empire. Then new negotiations were undertaken. The debt was whittled down. The interest was deduced to a nominal rate. But what happened? The British government simply defrauded both principal and interest. Uncle Shylock could go chase himself.

What assurance does this nation have that this would not happen again? Certainly no such assurance can be built upon the caustic words we are hearing from Britain about the loan.

Feminine Opportunity
Is Again Emphasized

THE SELECTION of a woman, Miss Dorothy Shaver, as president of Lord & Taylor, $32,000,000 New York store—the first woman to head a department store of such size—is an impressive success story, even though it may be paralleled in various fields of commercial enterprise.

It serves as an indication of the almost unlimited opportunity available to women in most occupations in competition with men—certainly a progressive economic development from the time when men were considered naturally entitled to a monopoly of such opportunity and women in business were limited to special and lesser status. Prejudices and handicaps restricting women in economic enterprise gradually have been removed by women themselves, through their resourcefulness, adaptability and initiative.

The career of Miss Shaver, besides exemplifying these qualities, has certain picturesque aspects. Hers is a sizeable and important job in a metropolitan setting. The record shows, however, that, in addition to being a university graduate willing to learn and make herself useful at the start, she brought a great deal of imagination to her work, making her own new jobs as she went along. She became an expert at merchandising, advertising and the development of markets here and abroad.

Her interest in fashion and decorative arts stimulated and developed by travel and by observation, enabled her to introduce new ideas in this country which brought radical changes in established methods of department store promotion.

Miss Shaver seems to have achieved a significant success even in these times when it has become a byword never to underestimate the powers of a woman.

Birmingham Sets a Mark
In Character Education

WHILE schools continue to play a significant part in the struggle to reduce juvenile delinquency, particularly here in Maryland, it is of interest to note the success that has attended a definite program of character education which has been in effect in the public schools of Birmingham, Ala., since 1923.

This program centers about twelve character-building factors, one of which is emphasized throughout the school system each year. They are health, sportsmanship, work, beauty, thrift, courtesy, love of nature, worthy use of leisure, service, scientific curiosity, co-operation and self-reliance.

A news bulletin of the Public Administration Clearing House says that there has been sharp reduction in juvenile delinquency in Birmingham in recent years in contrast to a general increase for the nation.

Development of character through good sportsmanship is considered the key-stone of the program. Children watch for and clean up unsanitary situations. Good sportsmanship is encouraged by the awarding of a trophy each year to the school which displays among its athletes and student body the best attitudes.

The winning of games is a secondary consideration. Pupils are taught to see the unpleasantness of ugliness, the costliness of waste and the advantages of accuracy and order. Thrift is emphasized in the organization of banking and budgeting groups. Our factors are emphasized by similar programs.

The advantage of this plan is that it reaches the children at their most impressionable age when their characters are being molded by the things they are permitted to do, hear and see.

Hearth and Home a
Felicitous Phrase

NOW when the snow crunches underfoot and the fronds of frost are etched on the window panes, there is an ancient felicity in the phrase, "hearth and home." No miracle of central heating, precisely engineered with thermostats and pipes or ducts, can bring the charm and comfort of an open fire on a winter's night. Without a hearth, a home is somehow incomplete.

Outside the naked trees, silent in the moonlight, cast shadows of blue velvet on the tracked and drifted snow. Far sounds are sharp and clear in the stillness of the cold. The stars hang close above the rooftops as the chilly reaches of outer space press down upon the earth.

On such a night, man is warmed by the eternal friendliness of flame. An open fire fills a need as much spiritual as physical. It brings reassurance against the numbing austerity of the universe beyond the door. It cheers and heartens and invites. It speaks of peace and well-being. It stimulates good talk among friends, and mellowes memories and rekindles dreams.

Any fire on the hearth is good, but a wood fire is best—a fire of slow-burning oak, of crackling ash, or fragrant apple wood. Its incense reaches out in the night to quicken the footsteps of arriving guests; its flame warms both the hands and the heart and brings fellowship within four walls. And late in the night, when the lights are out and the house is quiet, its last glowing coals still linger on the hearth, like old friends loath to leave. On a winter's night, a wood fire is a balsam, a hearth a blessing.

Mail Zoning Numbers
Are To Be Permanent

USE of zone numbers in addition to addresses on mail matter, having passed the experimental stage, is to be continued permanently, according to the Postoffice department at Washington. The announcement is of particular interest to communities where many suburban settlements are included in the general coverage of the city post office, and where there are similar street names in several communities.

The innovation was started May 1, 1943, to facilitate handling of the mail, when many of the regular postal staff had been called away by the war and much of the operation of the service had been assigned to inexperienced men and women. That purpose was served, as many persons using the mails included zone numbers with the addresses on parcels, letters and cards they send out.

It has been proved to the satisfaction of postal heads that the zoning numbers are a great aid in prompt distribution of the mail, and that is something in which there is decided room for improvement, particularly in all classes below first class matter.

FRED STONE

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I have just finished one of the most absorbing and fascinating autobiographies I have ever read—that one by Fred Stone, under the title of "Rolling Stone." It is an American story by a great American. It is a typical story of a hard-earned success, thru thick and thin, doggedly lived, cleanly lived, and withal happily and inspiringly lived.

Thru a period of circus and theatrical life, covering half a century, here was a man who kept his ideals mastered everything he attempted, and kept his eyes ever on the top of the ladder. It is an amazing story. Here was a man who was never satisfied with a half success in anything. He must be a master of nothing. I recall his first success that put him high on the pinnacle of fame—his rendition of the Scare Crow in The Wizard of Oz, as played in Chicago so many years ago. Nothing so perfectly handled had ever before been seen on the world.

There isn't a dull chapter in Fred Stone's book. He tells of all his early experiences—and thrilling they were. He tells of his associations with the great of his time, and of his very close friends, Rex Beach and Will Rogers, not to leave out his unusual closeness to his own brother Ed. And in his long association with Dave Montgomery, read again in a team that made theatrical history, that will live in the memory of a million.

This is a book for young men to read—who don't consider it necessary or essential to perfect themselves in the small details. Fred Stone never neglected these. His entire life had been an illustration of the old adage that "practice makes perfect."

Another thing that impresses you, as you read this outstanding story, is the happy and beautiful family life that the Stones lived. And just recently he sat with his beautiful Allene, his wife, and watched Dorothy and Paula produce in New York his own old success, "The Red Mill." And what a production it was! It was a recollection of the past, flooding it with beauty.

This book of Fred Stone's teams with unique stories, personal adventures, and life lessons. It is modestly written. It is American through and through. It should be read by millions, and I hope that it will be. I know Fred Stone, though I have never met him!

COME AND GET IT, BUT OUT OF THE SAME DISH

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Jesse Jones Pulls Faux Pas Regarding
Truman's Mother, Drew Pearson Asserts

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Since Franklin Roosevelt died, Jesse Jones has managed to stay on pretty good terms with Harry Truman. However, Jones certainly muffed the ball at a private dinner at which the president was guest of honor the other night.

The dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Symington—he the vice-chairman of the post office—and at the start of the meal the Mr. Symington rose and proposed a toast to the first lady.

The guests then sat down and started eating. Suddenly, however, they heard a rattling at the end of the table. Someone was banging a fork against a plate. It was Jesse Jones demanding to be heard. Jones rose and said he, too, wanted to propose a toast. Lifting his glass, he said:

"I propose a toast to Mrs. Fiddlesticks," the mother of Mrs. Truman.

The ensuing silence would have caused anyone less brash than Jesse to slide under the table. Obviously he was referring to the remark made by the President's mother, "Oh Fiddlesticks," when she was asked to pose for the photographers. However, nobody at the State department is when they send it over to be signed by the president.

President Truman is so concerned about his relations with progressives and liberals that he is appointing a special liaison group of liberal congressmen to confer with him regularly.

The Other Lafollette

When the name Lafollette is mentioned in Washington, most people think of the senator from Wisconsin, who succeeded his crumpled bull-moose father. But another Lafollette, from Indiana, not Wisconsin, who sits in the House of Representatives, is also attracting more and more attention.

Empty chairs fill up quickly when Rep. Charles Lafollette takes the floor for a speech. Colleagues may sometimes disagree with the two-faced Indiana Republican, but they want someone who is adamant against their property. Lafollette claimed he had advised Hitler against pogroms, cautioning him that such incidents would prejudice the world against the Nazis.

"I have always believed that the proper solution to the Jewish problem would be to give the Jews a homeland of their own and send them all there," said Lafollette.

"Actually," he continued, without battoning an eye, "I have always been a strong Zionist."

Colleagues on both sides of the aisle listened in amazed silence. Only one congressmen to answer were two Republicans: Jenson of Iowa and Bartsch of Massachusetts. Significantly, no whimpers came from Southern Democrats.

"Did not the sovereignty of the states exist long before the federal government was established?" asked Bates.

"Yes, but man existed long before the State of Massachusetts," shot back Lafollette. "The State of Massachusetts did not create its citizens and does not own them. The citizens own the state. In the Continental Congress and the convention which created the constitution, the issue was not states' rights."

The issue was, "shall the people determine that they can be better served by a (federal) government with power over the states?" That is the constitutional answer, and it is the only answer that parallels with any idea of the innate dignity and honor of mankind. From that premise I do not yield, nor shall I ever yield, God giving me the strength to retain my intellectual, moral, and spiritual integrity."

Reconversion Czar

Attention here's another example of how your fumbling Reconversion Director John Snyder is sabotaging your program. Recently you joined with leaders of labor and with Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in endorsing a study of the entire annual wage program.

The matter was then referred to the advisory committee of Snyder's office, headed by ex-Governor Max Gardner of North Carolina. That committee unanimously appointed two of its members, Arthur Meyer and Murray Latimer, to make a careful investigation of the entire subject. However, your own close friend and appointee, John Snyder, fully reconverted to peace-time production.

In addition, the government charges, some converters are holding up production until after January 1 to take advantage of tax exemptions.

The public will just have to wait until mass production again gets under way.

The red stamp is due back soon, but not the meat rationing variety. It's coming back to do duty on letters at a two cent rate. It disappeared from this role early in the defense program. A bill to reinstate it as legitimate postage to move first class mail under one-half ounce within towns and cities has passed the Senate. House adoption is believed virtually certain.

Administration leaders have called the "Big Three" meeting at Potsdam—the Potsdam conference. The official title is now the "Berlin conference." An army officer present wouldn't like to venture the guess publicly, but he suspects that the real reason is that the conference actually was held at a hitherto unmentioned German town called Babelsberg.

Take the national capital, for instance. Here we preach freedom and democracy and set ourselves up as the righteous exponents of the doctrines of the Prince of Peace.

But to other peoples we must appear to be vain hypocrites boasting of our virtues, for, if we are honest about it, we will concede that too many of us believe in those virtuous and the statesmen of other nations and the statesmen of other nations.

Experience should have told all that the policy guided by eternal truths and the laws of God is the most real and tangible of policies. Realistic policies who think otherwise will up only ruins.

It brings reassurance against the numbing austerity of the universe beyond the door. It cheers and heartens and invites. It speaks of peace and well-being. It stimulates good talk among friends and mellow memories and rekindles dreams.

Any fire on the hearth is good, but a wood fire is best—a fire of slow-burning oak, of crackling ash, or fragrant apple wood. Its incense reaches out in the night to quicken the footsteps of arriving guests. Its flame warms both the hands and the heart and brings a fellowship within four walls. And late in the night, when the lights are out and the house is quiet, its last glowing coals still linger on the hearth like old friends loath to leave. On a winter's night, a wood fire is a benison, a hearth & hear-

Mail Zoning Numbers*Are To Be Permanent

USE of zone numbers in addition to addresses on mail matter, having passed the experimental stage, is to be continued permanently according to the Postoffice department at Washington. The announcement is of particular interest to communities where many suburban settlements are included in the general coverage of the city post-office, and where there are similar street names in several communities.

The innovation was started May 1, 1943, to facilitate handling of the mail when many of the regular postal staff had been called away by the war and much of the operation of the service had been assigned to inexperienced men and women.

That purpose was served, as many persons using the mails included zone numbers with the addresses on parcels, letters and cards they send out.

It has been proved to the satisfaction of postal heads that the zoning numbers are a great aid in prompt distribution of the mail, and that is something in which there is decided room for improvement, particularly in all classes below first class matter.

FRED STONE*By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I have just finished one of the most absorbing and fascinating autobiographies I have ever read—that one by Fred Stone, under the title of "Rolling Stone." It is an American story by a great American. It is a typical story of a hard-earned success, thru thick and thin, doggedly lived, cleanly lived, and with happily and inspiringly lived.

Thru a period of circus and theatrical life, covering half a century, there was a man who kept his ideals mastered everything he attempted, and kept his eyes ever on the top of the ladder. It is an amazing story. Here was a man who was never satisfied with a half success in anything. He must be a master or nothing. I recall his first success that put him high on the pinnacle of fame—his rendition of the Scare Crow in "The Wizard of Oz" as played in Chicago so many years ago. Nothing so perfectly handled has ever before been seen on the stage.

There isn't a dull chapter in Fred Stone's book. He tells of all his experiences—and thrilling they were. He tells of his associations with the great, the time and of his very close friends, Rex Beach and Will Rogers, not to leave out his unusual closeness to his own brother, Ed. And in his long association with Don Montgomery, you read again of a team that read a theatrical history that will live in the memory of millions.

This is a book for young men to read—who don't consider it necessary or essential to perfect themselves in the small details. Fred Stone never neglected these. His entire life has been an illustration of the old adage that "practice makes perfect."

Another thing that impresses you, as you read this outstanding story, is the happy and beautiful family life that the Stones lived. And just recently he sat with his beautiful Alene, his wife, and watched Dorothy and Paula produce in New York his own old success, "The Red Mill." And what a production it was! It was a recalling of the past, flooding it with beauty.

This book of Fred Stone's seems with unique stories, personal adventures, and life lessons. It is modestly written. It is American through and through. It should be read by millions, and I hope that it will be. I know Fred Stone though I have never met him!

COME AND GET IT, BUT OUT OF THE SAME DISH*THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND*Jesse Jones Pulls Faux Pas Regarding Truman's Mother, Drew Pearson Asserts

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Since Franklin Roosevelt died, Jesse Jones has managed to stay on pretty good terms with Harry Truman, who is patching up at a secret cause.

Jesse certainly muffed the ball at a private dinner at which the president was guest of honor the other night.

The dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Symington—he the surplus property administrator—and at the start of the meal Mr. Symington rose and proposed a toast to the first lady.

The guests then sat down and started eating. Suddenly, however, they heard a rattling at the end of the table. Someone was banging a fork against a plate. It was Jesse Jones demanding to be heard.

Jesse rose and said he, too, wanted to propose a toast. Lifting his glass to the other guests, he said: "I propose a toast to 'Mrs. Fiddlesticks,' the mother of Mrs. Truman."

The ensuing silence would have caused anyone less brash than Jesse to slide under the table. Obviously, he was referring to the remark made by the President's mother, "on fiddlesticks," when she was asked to pose for the photographers. However, nobody at the State department is even thinking about what is going on in the State department when they send it over to be signed by the president.

President Truman is so concerned about his relations with progressives and liberals that he is appointing a special liaison group of liberal congressmen to come with him regularly.

The Other Lafollette

When the name Lafollette is mentioned in Washington, most people think of the senator from Wisconsin who succeeded his cruder bull-moose father. But another Lafollette, from Indiana, not Wisconsin, who sits in the House of Representatives, is also attracting more and more attention.

Empty chairs fill up quickly when Rep. Charles Lafollette takes the floor for a speech. Colleagues may sometimes disagree with the two-faced Indiana Republican, but they agree that what he says is usually interesting and never fails to pack a wallop.

In fact, one of his recent speeches packed such a wallop that conservative colleagues on the Republican side almost swooned. For Lafollette attacked that super-sacred cow, states' rights, and before he was through had virtually dehorned the animal.

"There are no such things as states' rights," declared the red-headed Hoosier. "There are rights of citizens who live within a state."

The man who speaks the language of totalitarianism. There is only individual sovereignty."

Colleagues on both sides of the aisle listened in amazed silence. Only congressmen to answer were two Republicans: Jensen of Iowa and Dewey of Massachusetts. Significantly, no whimpers came from Southern Democrats.

"Did not the sovereignty of the states exist long before the federal government was established?" asked Bates.

"Yes, but man existed long before the State of Massachusetts," shot back Lafollette. "The State of Massachusetts did not create its citizens and does not own them. The citizens own the state. In the Continental Congress and the convention which created the constitution, the issue was not states' rights.

The issue was, 'shall the people determine that they can be better served by a (federal) government with power over the state? That is the constitutional answer, and it is the only answer that parallels with any idea of the innate dignity and honor of mankind. From that premise I do not yield, nor shall I ever yield, God giving me the strength to retain my intellectual, moral and spiritual integrity.'

Reconversion Czar

Attention, President Truman: here's another example of how your fumbling Reconversion Director John Snyder is sabotaging your program. Recently you joined with leaders of labor and with Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in endorsing a study of the entire annual wage program.

The matter was then referred to the advisory committee of Snyder's office, headed by ex-Governor Max Gardner of North Carolina. That committee unanimously appointed the two of its members, Arthur Meyer and Murray Latimer, to make a careful investigation of the entire wage program.

fully reconverted to peace-time production.

In addition, the government charges, some converters are holding up production until after January 1 to take advantage of tax exemptions.

The public will just have to wait until mass production again gets under way.

The red stamp is due back soon, but not the meat rationing variety. It's coming back to do duty on letters at a two cent rate. It disappeared from this role early in the defense program. A bill to reinstate it as legitimate postage to move first class mail under one-half ounce within towns and cities has passed the Senate. House adoption is believed virtually certain.

Administration leaders have been calling the "Big Three" meeting at Potsdam the Potsdam conference. The official title is now the "Berlin conference." An army officer present wouldn't like to venture the guess publicly, but he suspects that the real reason is that the conference actually was held at a hitherto unmentioned German town called Babelsberg.

For a time the army's public relations officers—and this was before the foreign ministers found it impossible to agree on what the Potsdam declaration said—feared that columnists might leap on the name of the real site of the meeting.

There only remained the obvious conclusion that the same columnists might begin referring to "The Tower of Babelsberg."

The possibility that James F. Forrestal may resign as secretary of the navy is only in the rumor stage. But a fight for the succession is already under way.

Ed Pauley, President Truman's reparations agent in Germany and Japan, is leading in private discussion as a probable successor. A strong congressional group is boosting Representative Shepard (D) of California, chairman of the House subcommittee on naval appropriations who is being supported by a substantial congressional bloc.

The navy is quietly interested in learning the convictions of any prospective candidate on unification of the armed forces. They want someone as adamant against it as is the present secretary.

Reason behind President Truman's co-ordinating of various intelligence units of the nation are slowly coming to light in

Long Occupation Of Japan Favored By Episcopal Bishop

HONOLULU, Dec. 27 (AP) — The Right Rev. Norman S. Binsted, Episcopal bishop of the Philippines who twice was interned by Japanese during the war, favors a long occupation of Japan.

On his way to the mainland to help raise funds to rebuild churches in war-ravaged areas, he said today in an interview that an occupation of at least four years and possibly ten would give liberal political elements sufficient time to exert a strong democratic influence.

Bishop Binsted, who recently visited Japan, said some quarters feared "that the American army will be withdrawn too soon and before the country really is liberalized."

He found in Japan that most churches went underground during the war because "all manifestations of Western civilization were under suspicion" but expressed belief the churches have come through and will have a better chance than ever before for spreading Christianity."

Long Occupation Of Japan Favored By Episcopal Bishop

HONOLULU, Dec. 27 (AP) — The Right Rev. Norman S. Binsted, Episcopal bishop of the Philippines who twice was interned by Japanese during the war, favors a long occupation of Japan.

On his way to the mainland to help raise funds to rebuild churches in war-ravaged areas, he said today in an interview that an occupation of at least four years and possibly ten would give liberal political elements sufficient time to exert a strong democratic influence.

Bishop Binsted, who recently visited Japan, said some quarters feared "that the American army will be withdrawn too soon and before the country really is liberalized."

He found in Japan that most churches were underground during the war because "all manifestations of Western civilization were under suspicion" but expressed belief the churches have come through and will have a better chance than ever before for spreading Christianity."

—said in its Dec. 31 issue, released today, that the greatest of all 1945's great events was the atom bomb.

The president, the magazine said, "somewhat unwittingly, somewhat against his own will, became more than any other man responsible for the bomb, its use in 1945 and its future."

Except for the bomb, the greatest events of 1945 would have been the surrender of Germany and Japan, and the greatest news of the year would have been allied military men, the magazine declared.

Allegany Passers Bow to Graduates In Close Contest

Kenny Sherman's Basket in Last 35 Seconds Wins Game, 27-25

Kenny Sherman plucked a loose ball from a scramble under the hoop in the last 35 seconds and tossed in a field goal—his only one of the game—to bring Allegany's Alumni basketballers home to a wild 27-25 victory over the Schoolboys last night at Campobello.

Regarded as underdogs in view of the dismal showing they made last Sunday against LaSalle's Alumni in the Fort Hill stadium football scoreboard fund game, the Blue and White Graduates were strengthened by the addition of John "Tusky" Edwards and Footballers Jim Gaffney and John "Gumby" Gorman. In all, 17 players participated, but only six were able to score as much as a single point. Edwards accounted with 13 on some sensational shooting early in the contest.

Shatters Third Tie

Sherman's winning goal shattered the third deadlock of the fourth period after the Grads overcame a five-point deficit late in the third period to take a brief lead at 21-20 on Larry Shiner's pair of two-pointers. However, Bob Price's long basket gave the schoolboys the lead at the end of the period.

Apparently suffering from stage-fright, Coach Bill Bowers' rangy youngsters dropped back at the opening whistle as Edwards sent the Alumni into a lead which they retained until Gene Shaw's field goal and foul gave the Bowersmen a clear edge for the first time late in the second quarter, 13-10. Edwards followed with a foul and Shaw countered with two more and Price a double-decker to close out the half, 17-12.

This represented the greatest margin of either team but the schoolboys couldn't keep it up and Edwards' five straight points tied it up again at 17-17 and eventually the Grads went ahead on Shaw's two buckets near the end of the period.

Miss 13 Free Throws

The Blue and White sharpshooters never were able to get started with their set shots as they constantly were rusted by the Graduates and lured into throwing bad passes. Inability to convert free throws also hurt their chances as well as the Alumni. The Campers notched but seven of twenty throws while the Grads hit five out of the thirteen.

Coach Bowers used only six players, his only substitute played but a few minutes—and all participated in scoring. Glenn Brants seven points taking precedent. Outside of Edwards, Shiner, with six points, was the only other graduate to score consistently.

Allegany Reserves Win

In the preliminary game, the Allegany Reserves defeated the Cumberland Big Five, 32-17.

Tonight the Campers will invade Somersett, Pa., to play a return contest with the Somersett High Eagles, easy prey for them here last week in the season's opener. The lineups:

Charities Get $890,479 From New York Racing

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (P)—New York racing today distributed to twelve charities a total of $890,479.46, proceeds from the week-long charity meet which closed in New York season last fall.

The amounts for each charity ranged from $26,714.40 for the police athletic league to the $22,619.98 donated to the Red Cross and the $179,095.98 for the national war fund.

The total distributed today brings to more than a million and a half dollars the aggregate turned over to charity by New York tracks this year.

Blanchard Honored By Hometown Folks

Coley Welch Kayos Flores in Sixth

PORLAND, Me., Dec. 27. (P)—Coley Welch, 162½, Portland, kayoed Freddie Flores, 161½, New York, in the sixth round of their scheduled ten-round bout tonight at the Exposition building.

Welch, the New England middle-weight champ, led all the way, but the Puerto Rican kept him on his toes, and both fighters were cut up. Welch had a cut over one eye, and Flores' face was pretty well battered by the time he was knocked out.

Tarheels Upset N.Y.U.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (P)—North Carolina's Tarheels held grimly to a slender lead through a hectic final minute of play and dumped New York University from the ranks of the nation's unbeaten cage leaders tonight, 43-41, in an exciting game witnessed by another sellout crowd of 18,312 at Madison Square Garden. Brigham Young beat Manhattan, 53-43, in the opener.

Nats Sign Early

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (P)—The Washington Senators today received a signed contract for the 1946 season from Catcher Jake Early, returning war veteran.

Early played for the Senators in 1943 and then entered the army. His return gives the Senators four catchers. The others are Rick Perrell, Al Evans and Mike Guerra.

STARS FOR IRISH

Alumni Quintet Runs Roughshod Over Fort Hill

Trio of Graduate Teams Marks up 20 Baskets to Win 40 to 17

Outclassed in all departments of the game, Fort Hill high school's basketball warriors went down to a crushing defeat at the hands of an all-star Alumni aggregation that connected for a total of twenty field goals and romped off with a 40 to 17 decision last night on the Fort Hill court.

The Sentinels held the lead only once in the game and that was at the outset when Elmer Freeland scored from the field on a follow-up shot after Mervin Cox missed a free throw. Donald "Bubbles" Whitteman knotted the count at 2-2 and after Fred Davis parted the cords with a close-up shot the graduate team of fifteen players was never headed.

Field goals by Billy Dean and Jack Blades ran the count up to 8-2 in the opening period before the Alumni, starting five of Dean, Blades, Davis, Paul Whitford and D. Whitteman, retired temporarily to the bench in favor of Ed "Tubby" Bratt, Roy Whitteman, Joe Wagner, Ralph Beard and Arthur Spoltore. Cox hoisted a free throw to make the score 8-3 as the period ended.

Third Team Is "Hot"

The Alumni's "third" team, comprising Franklin Montgomery, Walter "Pooch" Orndorff, Jim Roby, "Chick" Snyder and Malamphy entered the fray as the second quarter got under way and this combination outscored the school team twelve to six to boost the figures to 20-9 at the half-time intermission. Baskets by Roby and Orndorff gave the Alumni a 12-3 advantage before Don Sensabaugh hoisted a two-pointer for Coach Cavanaugh's quintet. But the all-star outfit came right back to make it 16-5 on double-deckers by Roby and Snyder. Freeland managed to shoot through for a goal on a set shot but Montgomery registered twice from the field and Dean Fort Hill substitute, banged in a two-pointer as the half closed with the score 20 to 9.

Roy Whitteman, Bratt, Wagner, Spoltore and Beard came back into the game as the third period opened and after they had boosted the score to 30-14, Dean, Blades, Davis, Whitford and D. Whitteman re-entered the contest. Two goals by Davis and one by Billy Dean gave the Grads a 36-15 lead as the quarter ended.

The lone basket credited to the school team also farared poorly at the free throw line, blowing twelve of seventeen tries. The lineups:

SCHOTT AND BAKSI HEAD GARDEN CARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (P)—Promoter Mike Jacobs dips into his heavyweight filling bin tomorrow night to trot out a couple of the ring's pachyderm class clowns for the semi-weekly Madison Square Garden nose-mashing for the first time in months.

The return of the big boys pits Freddie Schott, Paterson, N. J., youngster unbeaten in his career of forty-three punch parties, against Joe Baks, the Kulpmont wallop from Pennsylvania's coal regions, in a ten-rounder.

Both have been ranked among the top dozen heavyweights for 1945. Although Joe had only a so-so year while Schott was rounding out a record of forty-two wins and one draw since first turning to professional beat-busting, the Broadway betting gentlemen have installed Baks a 5 to 6 favorite.

Blanchard Honored By Hometown Folks

BISHOPVILLE, S. C., Dec. 27. (P)—An All-America football hero was accorded tonight all the praise and esteem his proud hometown folks could heap upon him.

Felix A. (Doc) Blanchard, whose super-deluxe fullbacking has been a prime factor in Army's unbroken two-year gridiron victory string and which has gained him almost universal acclaim as the nation's No. 1 player, was guest of honor at a gala banquet staged by Bishopville's J. Williams.

Modest Doc, better known here by his middle name Anthony, heard his athletic exploits recounted in glowing terms by speaker after speaker, including Governor Ransome J. Williams.

The banquet was attended by more than 350 guests including Doc's mother, Mrs. Mary Tatum Blanchard and his sister, 18-year-old Mary Elizabeth.

New Zealand now estimates its Maori population at 103,000.

Allegany Passers Bow to Graduates In Close Contest

Kenny Sherman's Basket in Last 35 Seconds Wins Game, 27-25

Kenny Sherman plucked a loose ball from a scramble under the hoop in the last 35 seconds and tossed in a field goal—his only one of the game—to bring Allegany's Alumni basketball team to a wild 27-25 victory over the Schoolboys last night at Campionello.

Regarded as underdogs in view of the dismal showing they made last Sunday against LaSalle's Alumni in the Fort Hill stadium football scoreboard fund game, the Blue and White Graduates were strengthened by the addition of John "Tusky" Edwards and Footballers Jim Gaffney and John "Gumby" Gorman. In all, 17 players participated but only six were able to score as much as a single point, Edwards accounting with 13 on some sensational shooting early in the contest.

Shatters Third Tie

Sherman's winning goal shattered the third deadlock of the fourth period after the Grads overcame a five-point deficit late in the third period to take a brief lead at 21-20 on Larry Shaner's pair of two-pointers. However, Bob Price's long basket gave the schoolboys the lead at the end of the period.

Apparently suffering from stage-fright, Coach Bill Edwards' rangy youngsters dropped back at the opening whistle as Edwards sent the Alumni into a lead which they retained until Gene Shaw's field goal and foul gave the Bowersmen a clear edge for the first time late in the second quarter, 13-10. Edwards followed with a foul but Shaw countered with two more and Price a double-decker to close out the half.

This represented the greatest margin of either team but the schoolboys couldn't keep it up and Edwards's five straight points tied it up again at 17-17 and eventually the Grads went ahead on Shaner's two buckets near the end of the period.

Miss 13 Free Throws

The Blue and White sharpshooters never were able to get started with their set shots as they constantly were rushed by the Graduates and lured into throwing bad passes. Inability to convert free throws also hurt their chances as well as the Alumni. The Campers notched but seven of twenty throws while the Grads hit five out of thirteen.

Coach Bowers used only six players—his only substitute played but a few minutes—and all participated in scoring. Glenn Brant's seven points taking precedent. Outside of Edwards, Shaner with six points was the only other graduate to score consistently.

Allegany Reserves Win

In the preliminary game the Allegany Reserves defeated the Cumberland Big Five, 32-17.

Tonight the Campers will invade Somersett, Pa., to play a return contest with the Somersett High Eagles, easy prey for them here last week, in the season's opener. The lineup:

STARS FOR IRISH

Alumni Quintet Runs Roughshod Over Fort Hill

Trio of Graduate Teams Marks up 20 Baskets to Win 40 to 17

Outclassed in all departments of the game, Fort Hill high school basketball warriors went down to a crushing defeat at the hands of an all-star Alumni aggregation that connected for a total of twenty field goals and romped off with a 40 to 17 decision last night on the Fort Hill court.

The Sentinels held the lead only once in the game and that was at the outset when Elmer Freeland scored from the field on a follow-up shot after Mervin Cox missed a free throw. Donald "Bubbles" Whitteman knotted the count at 2-2 and after Fred Davis partied the cords with a close-up shot the graduate team of fifteen players was never headed.

Field goals by Billy Dean and Jack Blades ran the count up to 8-2 in the opening period before the Alumni's starting five of Dean, Blades, Davis, Paul Whitford and D. Whitteman retired temporarily to the bench in favor of Ed "Tubby" Bratt, Roy Whitteman, Joe Wagner, Ralph Beard and Arthur Spolte Cox hoisted a free throw to make the score 8-3 as the period ended.

Third Team is "Hot"

The Alumni's "third" team, comprising Frankie Montgomery, Walter "Pooch" Orndorf, Jim Roby, "Chick" Snyder and Malamphy entered the fray as the second quarter got under way and this combination outscored the school team twelve to six to boost the figures to 20-9 at the half-time intermission. Baskets by Roby and Orndorf gave the Alumni a 12-3 advantage before Don Sensabaugh hoisted a two-pointed for Coach Cavanaugh's quintet. But the all-star outfit came right back to make it 16-5 on doubledeakers by Roby and Strider. Freeland managed to break through for a goal on a set shot but Montgomery registered twice from the field and Dean, Fort Hill substitute, banged in a two-pointer as the half closed with the score 20 to 9.

Roy Whitteman, Bratt, Wagner, Spolte and Beard came back into the game as the third period opened and after they had boosted the score to 24-14, Dean, Blades, Davis, Whitford and D. Whitteman re-entered the contest. Two goals by Davis and one by Billy Dean gave the Grads a 36-15 lead as the quarter ended.

The lone basket credited to the school team in the fourth quarter was contributed by Freddie Partleton just before the game ended. Goals by Don Whitteman and Strider concluded the scoring for the visitors.

Wagner, Montgomery Star

Fort Hill's Alumni array comprised players that had performed for Cavanaugh-coached teams as far back as 1935, the real "Vets" being Roy Whitteman, Ed Bratt and Jim Roby. The latter, now in the armed service, contributed two sensational shots and played a nice floor game. Frankie "Fireball" Montgomery also stood out for the winners.

Fred Davis was the game's high individual scorer with six points on three field goals.

Limited to six field goals, the school team also fared poorly at the free throw line, blowing twelve of seventeen tries. The lineups:

Nine Are Killed

The Moscow meeting agreed to set up for Korea a provisional "democratic government" and a Four-power, five-year trusteeship — with a view to the re-establishment of Korea as an independent state."

The three foreign secretaries reaffirmed adherence to a policy of "non-interference" in the internal affairs of China. And Byrnes and Molotov said they were in "complete accord as to the desirability of withdrawal of Soviet and American forces from China at the earliest practicable moment consistent with the discharge of their obligations and responsibilities."

Simultaneous Release
The communiqué was released simultaneously in Washington, London and Moscow.

The three top diplomats at the conference had announced, on Christmas eve, plans to call a twenty-one-nation conference by May 1 to consider peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Finland. The communiqué repeated that announcement.

It wound up with the plan for safeguards against atomic destruction. In general, the plan followed the arrangements recommended last November by Britain, Canada and the United States — the countries which share the secret of making atomic bombs.

Russia agreed to join these three nations in offering a resolution on atomic control to the first meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in London next month. France and China were invited to sponsor the resolution, too.

It provides for the general assembly to establish a control commission — with the same member nations as the Security council, plus Malacca.

Byrnes added that the ministers have discussed a number of matters and by exchange of views have clarified subjects for the three governments, so that it will be easier to secure achievements agreeable to the three governments."

Byrnes did not appear fatigued despite the fact that he had only three hours sleep before departure time and that the closing ministers' conference had kept him occupied for twelve hours.

"Are you going strong?" he was asked, and he replied with a laugh. "No, but I'm going." With that he got his hat and departed for the airport.

Byrnes, Jubilant

The communiqué was released simultaneously in Washington, London and Moscow.

The three top diplomats at the conference had announced, on Christmas eve, plans to call a twenty-one-nation conference by May 1 to consider peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Finland. The communiqué repeated that announcement.

It wound up with the plan for safeguards against atomic destruction. In general, the plan followed the arrangements recommended last November by Britain, Canada and the United States — the countries which share the secret of making atomic bombs.

Russia agreed to join these three nations in offering a resolution on atomic control to the first meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in London next month. France and China were invited to sponsor the resolution, too.

It provides for the general assembly to establish a control commission — with the same member nations as the Security council, plus Malacca.

The commission's reports and recommendations would go to the Security council. Thus each of five big powers — the United States, Russia, France, Britain and China — would have veto authority over any major action dealing with atomic questions.

These five powers are permanent members of the Security council and must vote unanimously on all but matters of procedure. Six smaller nations will be elected to two-year terms to round out the Security council's membership of eleven countries.

Resolution Follows Formula

The resolution to be submitted to the fifty-one-nation general assembly follows almost exactly the British-Canadian-American formula in outlining the duties of the Atomic Control Commission.

The commission is to proceed with "utmost dispatch" inquiry into all phases of the atomic problem, and make recommendations. In addition, the resolution says, it shall make specific proposals:

"(a) For extending between all nations the exchange of basic scientific information for peaceful ends;

"(b) For control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes;

"(c) For the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction;

"(d) For effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasion."

This was the exact wording of the declaration issued November 15 by President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee, of Britain, and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada.

The pattern for the new Far Eastern commission contemplates big-power veto rights. The commission could take action by less than a unanimous vote only if the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Australia.

The three foreign secretaries reaffirmed adherence to a policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of China. And Byrnes and Molotov said they were in "complete accord" as to the desirability of withdrawal of Soviet and American forces from China at the earliest practicable moment consistent with the discharge of their obligations and responsibilities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Veterans Administration is seven days behind in distributing its incoming mail but is catching up every day, officials disclosed today.

The volume has grown steadily since the war's end and now totals 100,000 to 125,000 pieces daily.

At one point more than two weeks elapsed from the time a letter was received until it was opened. On December 3 the lag was reduced to ten days and now is an even week.

Russia also joins a revised Far Eastern Commission, an eleven-nation agency which will consider policy for governing Japan.

In addition, the Russian-sponsored governments in Romania and Bulgaria are to be recognized by Britain and the United States after they have been broadened to include representatives of additional political parties.

No Reference to Iran

The communiqué omitted any reference to conditions in Iran.

But Bevin

told newsmen in Moscow that the Iranian question was discussed at length, but that final agreement was reached, but that assurances were repeated that British, Russian and American troops would be withdrawn from Iran by the treaty date of March 2. Through diplomatic channels, Bevin said, discussions on Iran will continue.

met the meeting "very constructively" from the standpoint of agreements and the development of "cordial relations."

Byrnes said there were no secret agreements beyond the scope of the three-way communiqué. That ruled out any decision to let Russia in on the secrets of making atomic bombs.

The communiqué said discussion of atomic energy dealt with the establishment of a control commission.

Plans were made for writing the final peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

United Nations Will Meet

Foreign ministers of the big powers will draft the terms in the first instance—Russia and Britain for Finland, the United States and Russia and Britain for Romania and Bulgaria, and the "Big Three" plus France for Italy.

Then a conference of all the United Nations which "actively waged war with substantial force against European enemy states" will be called by May 1 to pass upon the treaties. After that the countries which signed the final armistice terms with the former Axis-allied nations in question will draw up the final texts.

The Moscow meeting agreed to set up for Korea a provisional "democratic government" and a four-power, five-year trusteeship—with a view to the re-establishment of Korea as an independent state."

The three foreign secretaries reaffirmed adherence to a policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of China. And Byrnes and Molotov said they were in "complete accord" as to the desirability of withdrawal of Soviet and American forces from China at the earliest practicable moment consistent with the discharge of their obligations and responsibilities.

Teen-Age Party Snacks for Gala New Year

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

A twelve-year-old should be able to sit up until midnight on New Year's Eve with no harm done and a lot of fun. A simple party does the trick, having as its most important refreshment bottled soft drinks, decorated with shiny stars and paper streamers.

To accompany their drinks, give the young crowd some pastry hors d'oeuvres. These are satisfying, slightly sophisticated, and within easy for mother to make.

Pastry Hors d'Oeuvres

Start with a double pastry recipe. This may be prepared in advance and stored in the refrigerator, or quick-frozen pastry may be used. Divide the pastry into thirds and roll thin.

TURNOVERS: Cut the first piece of pastry into 4-inch squares. Heap one diagonal half with filling and fold remaining half of pastry over it to form a three-cornered tart. Mouton edges with a watered-down egg and press together with tip of a fork.

PINWHEEL CUPS: Cut out the second piece of pastry with a three-inch cookie cutter. Place round pastry in the cups with fingers pinching edges into pinwheel points. Fill with any fillings suggested, but not more than the rim of the cups.

DOUBLE CORNUCOPIAS: Cut the third piece of pastry into four-inch squares. Arrange filling in a one-inch strip diagonally through center. Fold opposite corners of pastry over filling and seal with a watered-down egg. Press together with tip of a fork.

TIDBITS: Remaining pastry may be made into small diamonds, rounds or any design your imagination suggests.

Place pastries on baking sheet, brush tops with melted butter, and bake in hot oven (425 degrees) for about ten minutes, or until brown. Arrange on platter and garnish with fresh fruit, stuffed olives, pimento strips or slices of green pepper.

For pastry fillings, here are some which will appeal to the young:

Cheese Blend

1/4 pound hard American cheese, grated
1/4 cup onion, finely chopped
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt

Have cheese and butter at room temperature, then combine thoroughly. Blend in milk. Add onion. Spread evenly on pastry.

Egg Salad

3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
watercress
1/4 teaspoon finely chopped
1/2 teaspoon mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt
Combine eggs and chopped greens. Blend in mayonnaise and salt. This filling may be prepared in advance and stored in the refrigerator.

Teen-Age Party Snacks for Gala New Year

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

A twelve-year-old should be able to sit up until midnight on New Year's Eve with no harm done and a lot of fun. A simple party does the trick, having as its most important refreshment bottled soft drinks, decorated with shiny stars and paper streamers.

To accompany their drinks, give the young crowd some party hors d'oeuvres. These are satisfying, slightly sophisticated, and within easy for mother to make.

Pastry Hors d'Oeuvres

Start with a double pastry recipe. This may be prepared in advance and stored in the refrigerator, or quick-frozen pastry may be used. Divide the pastry into thirds and roll thin.

Turnovers

Cut the first piece of pastry into 4-inch squares. Roll the diagonal half with filling and fold remaining half of pastry over it to form a three-cornered tart. Moisten edges with egg wash and bake.

Pinwheel Cups

Cut out the second piece of pastry with a three-inch cookie cutter. Form rounds of pastry into little cups with finger tips. Press out points. Fill with any of the fillings suggested, not above the rim of the cup.

Double Cornucopias

Cut the third piece of pastry into four-inch squares. Arrange filling in a one-inch strip diagonally through center. Fold opposite corners over and overlap across center.

Dribits

Remember, these may be made into small diamonds, rounds or any design your imagination suggests.

Place pastries on baking sheet.

Brush tops with melted butter, and bake in hot oven (425 degrees) for about ten minutes, or until brown.

Arrange on platter and garnish with watercress, stuffed olives, pimento strips or slices of green pepper.

For pastry fillings, here are some which will appeal to the young:

Cheese Blend

1/4 pound hard cheese 1 tablespoon finely grated cheese 2 tablespoons butter 1 tablespoon milk

Have cheese and butter at room temperature then combine thoroughly. Blend in milk. Add onion. Spread evenly on pastry.

Egg Salad

3 hard-cooked eggs 1/2 cup watercress 1/2 cup mayonnaise 1/2 teaspoon finely chopped parsley 1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine eggs and chopped green onions. Mix mayonnaise and salt. This filling may be prepared in advance and stored in the refrigerator.

Decrease Is Shown In Unemployed Vets

WEST VIRGINIA LIQUOR "HOLIDAY" IS EXTENDED

A drop in the number of unemployed veterans registered at the local United States Employment Service was reported yesterday by Patrick J. Carroll, office manager.

Total number of unemployed veterans dropped last week from 760 to 560—with the decrease attributed by Carroll to the fact that some veterans who have been hunting new jobs finally decided to return to their old jobs.

The total number of all unemployed persons registered at the USES office is 1,497 as of last Friday. Carroll said, "Of this number 392 are males and 595 females. Many of the unemployed males are in the construction trades and there are no large jobs underway at this time," Carroll said.

Few returning veterans are availing themselves of the opportunity to resume their high school educations cut short by the war, Carroll said.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Charles Robert Lowry, on his birthday, December 27th.

Life did not test his worth; too young Death's mandate still'd his eager tongue
And laid his purpose by.
And we who brought him, left a prayer
That he be worthy Over There
And keep his banner high.

PARENTS, SISTERS and BROTHER
12-27-11-TNIn loving remembrance of our dear
Mother, Caroline Zink, who passed away
two years ago today, December 28, 1943.

Today sad memories come to us.
Of our dear Mother who is gone to rest.
The chair she sat in and the place she filled.

Still holds her memories dear.
God saw the road was getting rough.
The hills were hard to climb.
He gently closed her eyes and whispered
"Sweetly Come."

CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN
12-28-11-NTIn loving memory of Howard Junior
Twigg, who was killed December 28, 1942.

Our love cannot tell how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say.
God rest his soul and comfort him,
In our lonesome home today.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return.
That he soon in death would sleep
And leave us to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him.
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid.
Sadly missed by his MOTHER AND FATHER, EDITH AND
WILLIAM TWIGG AND BROTHER

Charles T. Carney And His Wife Are Hurt in Accident

Taken to Chambersburg,
Pa., Hospital; Neither
Seriously Injured

Charles T. Carney, superintendent of the rolling mill at the B. & O. railroad here for approximately 20 years, and Mrs. Carney were reported "resting uncomfortably" but not critically injured" last night in a Chambersburg, Pa., hospital where they were taken Wednesday night following an automobile smashup that completely demolished their machine.

Car Skids on Highway

The Cumberland couple were on their way home Wednesday evening traveling west on U. S. Route 30, a three-lane highway, when their car skidded five miles west of Chambersburg and collided with a 1937 DeSoto sedan driven by D. J. Price, York, Pa. Price was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Carney was admitted to the hospital at 7 a. m. Wednesday with chest injuries. Attendants said that the patient is also being troubled by asthma. His condition was described as "uncomfortable" but not serious.

Mrs. Price is also in the hospital as a result of the accident, suffering from bruises and cuts. Price was treated for minor injuries and released. The daughter was not injured.

Was Driving Carefully

Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated the accident, said that Carney had apparently been driving cautiously and had chains on his car. However, the three-lane highway was slippery and the officers reported that he had been going up a slight incline which he mistook for a decline. His car skidded across the highway, collided with the Price machine and came to rest against the guard rail. There was no indication of negligence on the part of either driver, the officers said.

It was reported last night that prior to the couple's departure Friday Mrs. Carney had not been feeling well and almost decided not to make the trip. However, it being Christmas, they decided to go ahead with their plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Carney have a son, Charles, Jr., now serving with the armed forces in Germany. A grandson, Charles III, and his mother reside in Washington, Pa.

McCormick Issues Statement of OPA Policy in County

Local Grocers Are Not Being "Singled Out," Director Says

OPA price control board members are not interested in "persecuting their fellow citizens," Leo H. McCormick, state OPA director, said yesterday in a statement following criticism of the OPA in Allegany county by Joseph G. Jackson, secretary-treasurer of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association in Western Maryland.

The law-abiding merchant in Allegany county, and anywhere else in the state, has nothing to fear from the OPA, McCormick said.

Grocers in Allegany county are not ready today to set up and operate a democratic government and for that reason the peoples of Europe do not understand Americans, Lt. Col. John Golden asserted in an address before the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA yesterday.

Golden, who recently returned from his second tour of duty in the European theater of operations, in discussing "Customs and Conditions of the Peoples of Europe," took the Kiwanians on a word picture tour of nearly all the European countries since the end of the war with Germany.

Golden described the English as a "joyful lot" and said they are anxious to be good friends with the people of the United States. He added that he believes relations between the two countries are now more firmly cemented than before World War 2.

Charles T. Carney And His Wife Are Hurt in Accident

Taken to Chambersburg,
Pa., Hospital; Neither
Seriously Injured

Charles T. Carney, superintendent of the rolling mill at the B. & O. railroad here for approximately 20 years, and Mrs. Carney were reported "resting uncomfortably, but not critically injured" last night in a Chambersburg, Pa., hospital where they were taken Wednesday night following an automobile smash that completely demolished their machine.

Car Skids on Highway

The Cumberland couple were on their way home Wednesday evening traveling west on U. S. Route 30, a three-lane highway, when their car skidded five miles west of Chambersburg and collided with a 1937 DeSoto sedan driven by D. J. Price, York, Pa. Price was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Carney was admitted to the hospital at 7 a. m. Wednesday with chest injuries. Attendants said that the patient is also being troubled by asthma. His condition was described as "uncomfortable" but not serious. Chest x-rays have been taken.

Mrs. Carney suffered bruises all over her body and suffered a broken left ankle, attendants said. Her condition was also described as "uncomfortable" but not serious.

Mrs. Price is also in the hospital as a result of the accident, suffering from bruises and cuts. Price was treated for minor injuries and released. The daughter was not injured.

Was Driving Carefully

Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated the accident, said that Carney had apparently been driving cautiously and had chains on his car. However, the three-lane highway was slippery and the officers reported that he had been going up a slight incline which he mistook for a decline. His car skidded across the highway, collided with the Price machine and came to rest against the guard rail. There was no indication of negligence on the part of either driver, the officers said.

It was reported last night that, prior to the couple's departure Friday, Mrs. Carney had not been feeling well and almost decided not to make the trip. However, it being Christmas, they decided to go ahead with their plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Carney have a son, Charles, Jr., now serving with the armed forces in Germany. A grandson, Charles, III, and his mother reside in Washington, Pa.
